

The Multi-school's council Ambassadors

We are looking for all groups of children

Our council is all about listening to the views of children and then planning events and projects linked to these views. It allows the children to discuss views on subjects that matter to them, finding ways to include and engage them. Recently we have ran projects such as;

- A climb of Mount Snowdon to raise funds and awareness
- A music album to break down negative perceptions
- A resilience programme to support children's mental health
- A football team to reengage children with disabilities into football
- A podcast to help young people speak out

Our ambassadors

Most of the work is done in school settings; however, we are very keen to include children who for whatever reason may not be in education currently or have had to change their education setting. Driving our projects forward are over 60 young ambassadors from across Essex and beyond who are committed to improving things for all. We are always on the lookout for more young people (including those with a disability or impairment) who may be passionate and want to get involved so that they can also make a difference.

If you want to become an ambassador all we need is an application from yourself, in whatever format works for you, telling us why you would make a good ambassador and what your passion is. Please send all application to mschoolscouncil@gmail.com .
